DOLL CARNIVAL ALL NEXT MEEK

YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION FETE.

Will Open on Monday Evening in the Banner Block-Exhibit Will Be Very Elaborate - Gerrity-Cawley Nuptials at St. Patrick's Church. Chrysanthemum Social, Dance in Mears' Hall, Banquet at Fairchild's to Successful Candidates at Recent Election-News Notes and Personal Paragraphs.

During the week beginning Dec. 3 the Young Women's Christian association will hold a "Dolls' Carnival" for the edification of West Scranton children. The object of the carnival is to secure money to raise the debt against the organization. In order to interest the public the co-operation of the business men, all leading church workers. as the association is inter-denominational must be secured.

To induce the business men to extend their support the committee decided to sell spaces at a given price per running foot to the leading merchants in city to exhibit their wares in as attractive a manner as possible, the only restriction being that no two houses shall exhibit the same line of goods. Each proprietor will decorate and otherwise beautify his own space. the committee having erected a scaffolding for the purpose. The value of securing a space at the carnival is two-First, as an advertising agency In all probability thousands of people will view the dolls during the week, and visitors noting these different exhibits will know just where to go and purchase their Christmas gifts in a manner pleasing to purse and taste. Secondly, it will serve as an aid to the organization holding the carnival. Once the association is put on a working footing, financially, the girlhood of West Scranton cannot help but be raised to a plane of higher ideals of the West Side dolls to be sold for the benefit of the association, dolls of every kind, baby dolls, tailor made dolls, rag dolls, boys, sailors and 'coon'' dolls, cheap dolls and expensive dolls, dolls to suit the heart and purse of every child in the city. A veritable Santa Claus land. And all well dressed and the clothing made to last.

In addition to this work the ladies have charge of candy and refreshment booths. The workers have also se cured the very best musical talent in the city to entertain the visitors each evening. A full programme will be announced later. To secure the children's interest you must touch something close to the little ones. What can be of more interest to the wee maiden than her doll, or to the sturdy boy than his knife?

The committee has invited all girls to register their dolls at 10 cents each and some little girl will at the end of the week carry home that beautiful work basket or doll as a prize, and the boys will possess the foot ball and camera. These three prizes are offered for the best dressed doll and the delicate knift work in the line of dolls furniture.

Remember the date, Monday evening, Dec. 3, at 7 o'clock. Every one should arrangement to be present during the carnival. Announcements will be made later of the program, booths and donations.

Wedding at St. Patrick's.

The marriage of Patrick Gerrity, of 330 Fifth avenue, and Miss Margaret Cawley, of Price street, was solemnized at St. Patrick's Catholic church at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the presence of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. P. E. Lavelle. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of seal brown, with white satin trimmings, and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Kate Griffin, of Boston, a cousin of the bride. She was dressed in a costume of blue, with pink trimmings and hat to match, and carried pink chrysanthemums. The groom was attended by his brother, Michael Gerrity.

Immediately after the nuptial knot was tied the wedding party enjoyed a drive to Olyphant, and upon their return were tendered a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cawley, 2035 Price street.

Marriage of David Weston and Miss Sarah Jones Celebrated Last Night-Other Notes.

The marriage of David J. Weston and Miss Sara Jones occurred last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Throop street, Rev. R. S. Jones, D. D., pastor of the Welsh Congregational church, officiating. The bride was attended by Misses Mary J. Jones, her sister, and Lizzie Weston, sister of the groom, as bridesmaids, and the groom's attendants were his brother, Robert Weston, and William J.

The bride and her maids wore costumes of cadet blue, and each wore corsage bouquets. The marriage took place in the parlor, which was nicely decorated for the occasion, and was witnessed by a number of the immediate friends of the happy couple. Afterwards the couple and the guests enjoyed a wedding supper and made merry with social pleasures. Mr. Weston and his bride were the recipients of a number of valuable tokens of the regard of their friends.

After a short wedding trip they will take up their residence in this part of the city.

Number of Miners Have a Thrilling Experience-Revival Services Other News Notes.

That an accident of serious propor tions did not happen here yesterday was more the result of good luck than good management. The miners who work in the Mountain shaft are carried to and from their work upon the cars that carry the coal from the shaft down to No. 1 breaker, a distance of about two and one-naif miles.

Yesterday morning a train of ten cars, upon which about one hundred men were riding to their work, was partially demolished. Several cars in the rear part of the train left the track as they swung around an unusually rough place on the road at a rapid pace. The cars were over-turned. throwing the occupants around in a lively fashion. Many scarred faces bruised bodies resulted, but, strange to say, when faces were counted, every one was able to answer pres-

This has been considered a dangerous ride by the miners for some time, and it is not likely the experience of yesterday will do much to assure them of its safety.
